

There are now so many 3-letter truth movements - for JFK, RFK, MLK, OKC, 9/11, etc. - you might think an hour of reckoning was finally close at hand. Think again.

Corporate-run governments clearly have no interest in truth, transparency or accountability and have used their mass media power and security forces to ensure that honest investigations of state crimes and atrocities are never carried through.

As big corporate bodies take over virtually all of our governance and enforce their authoritarian values, we lose our right to know what they are doing while they blithely invade our privacy each and every hour. Now we, the supposedly sovereign people, are stark naked to our "public servants" while they in turn are totally shielded from our eyes.

Here we address the matrix of mendacity we are living in and what it might take to reveal the truth of our history and turn our usurped countries around.
